MESSAGE FROM THE CFO

The District of Columbia is a single unit of government that provides many of the services typically provided by and shared between state and local levels of government in the fifty states. Typical local-level revenue sources used by the District include the real property tax, personal property tax, deed transfer and recordation taxes, traffic fines, and a variety of other taxes and fees. D.C. also uses many state-level revenue sources, including the individual income tax, the general sales and use tax, motor vehicle license fees, business net income taxes and various excise taxes. The District levies various taxes and a great number of fees in support of General Fund revenue each year. With over $7 billion in revenue flowing into the General Fund, our taxpayers are important investors in the nation's capital city.

The District's principal local revenue producers are the individual income tax, real property taxes, sales tax, and gross receipts taxes. The real property tax, which is generally administered by local jurisdictions, is the largest source of tax receipts for the District government, accounting for 27.7 percent of total local-source General Fund revenues in fiscal year 2015. Several property tax relief options are available to eligible property owners. The most widely used is the Homestead Deduction Program. For owner-occupied residences of five units or less, the homestead program provides a $71,700 deduction from the assessed value. Other property tax relief measures include a 10 percent cap on the annual growth of real property tax liability for homeowners and the Senior Citizen and Disabled Homeowner Tax Relief Program, which allows certain senior citizens and persons with disabilities to claim a 50 percent reduction in property taxes.

The individual income tax, which generally is administered by state governments, is the second largest source of tax revenue for the District, providing 23.6 percent of the total local-source General Fund revenues for fiscal year 2015. Because the individual income tax is progressive, the rate of increase for income tax revenues is greater than the rate of increase in income subject to the tax. Personal income tax credits include: out-of-state tax credit, credit for child and dependent care expenses, D.C. low income credit, property tax credit, and D.C. earned income tax credit.

The District's third largest revenue producer, the sales and use tax, is based on taxable sales in the District, which include most retail items, construction materials, and utilities used by business entities. Groceries, prescription and non-prescription drugs, and professional services such as consulting, engineering, legal, and physician services, are exempt from the sales and use tax. The sales and use tax is generally administered by state and local governments. This tax provided 16.6 percent of the District's fiscal year 2015 local revenue.

Although the District has features of a complete state/local revenue structure, it does not have the mix of economic activity of a typical state or city revenue base. Manufacturing, which enhances the tax bases of most major cities and states, is largely lacking in the District.

The federal presence in the District further compounds the disparity between the revenue-raising capacity of the District and that of many state and local governments. Some of the revenue implications due to the extraordinary federal presence include: (1) a narrower property tax base because of the substantial amount of federally owned tax-exempt property in the city; (2) a reduced income and sales tax base because of the tax-exempt status of the federal government, which is the city's largest employer, and (3) a significant amount of tax-exempt property due to the presence of foreign embassies. Federal actions that limit the District's tax revenues include: (1) prohibition of taxing non-resident income earned in the District; and (2) congressional limitations on the height of buildings in the District, which restrain economic development.

Details concerning the various taxes used by the District are presented in this publication for the purpose of taxpayer education and to enhance citizens' awareness of their tax responsibilities. The Office of Revenue Analysis welcomes comments on this document and how it could be made more useful to the public.

INTRODUCTION

Each year the Office of Revenue Analysis in the Office of the Chief Financial Officer receives numerous requests from citizens, legislators and the general public for statistics relating to District tax collections, tax burdens and tax rates.

D.C. Tax Facts presents a brief summary of information on the District's tax structure, tax rates, legal references and other comparative tax data. Tax rates used in this publication are those in effect as of January 1, 2016. More detailed information on these subjects may be obtained online from other publications of this office, including: (1) A Comparison of Tax Rates and Burdens in the Washington Metropolitan Area, (2) Tax Rates and Tax Burdens in the District of Columbia: A Nationwide Comparison, and 3) the biannual Tax Expenditure Report. These publications are available on the Internet at www.cfo.dc.gov.

The primary source for the 2016 revenue numbers presented in this report is the District of Columbia FY 2017 Proposed Budget and Financial Plan.

ESTATE TAX

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The estate tax is imposed on the estate of every decedent who died while still a resident of the District, and on the estate of every nonresident decedent owning property having a taxable situs in the District at the time of his or her death.

In response to the Federal Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act (EGTRRA) of 2001, the District decoupled from federal estate tax rules. The federal legislation gradually eliminated the federal estate tax over the next several years, with full repeal taking effect in year 2010. However, the estate tax elimination was only temporary, as the full estate tax returned in 2011. The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 permanently changed the estate tax after a decade of flux. The federal estate tax rate is 40 percent and the exemption level ($5.45 million in 2016) is indexed for inflation.

By decoupling, the District has chosen to create its estate tax threshold. Hence, some District estate tax payers may be required to file and pay District estate taxes even when no federal filing or tax is due. The District's estate tax rates are linked to federal estate tax credits that were available prior to the enactment of EGTRRA. The highest rate of 16.0 percent applies to estates valued at more than $10,000,000 (after allowable federal credits are taken).

The FY15 Budget Support Act instituted a revenue trigger for implementation of tax policy changes recommended by the District's Tax Revision Commission beyond FY 2015, one of which raised the estate tax threshold from $1 million to $2 million. This change is stipulated upon meeting some revenue triggers that would go into effect before the increase in the estate tax threshold. This increase in the estate tax threshold became effective in FY 2016 based on the February 2016 revenue forecast for the period FY 2016-FY 2020.

Virginia repealed its estate tax by the 2006 General Assembly for decedents whose date of death occurs on or after July 1, 2007. Maryland estate tax rate is similar to the District of Columbia. The highest Maryland tax rate is 16.0 percent of the amount by which the decedent's taxable estate exceeds the Maryland estate tax exemption ($2 million) amount for the year of the decedent's death (after allowable federal credits are taken).

There is no inheritance or gift tax in the District of Columbia.

D.C. Code Citation: Title 47, Chapter 37.

REVENUE:

Fiscal Year	Revenue

INCOME TAXES

CORPORATION AND UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS FRANCHISE TAXES

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The corporation franchise tax is imposed on corporations carrying on a trade, business or profession in the District or receiving income from District sources. Whoever engages in a trade, business or profession in the District of Columbia must register. Failure to register may result in a fine of not more than $500 and a civil penalty of $50 for each and every separate day that such failure to register continues.

The tax on unincorporated businesses is imposed on businesses with gross income over $12,000. A 30% salary allowance for owners and a $5,000 exemption are deductible from net income to arrive at taxable income. No person other than a corporation shall engage in or conduct a trade, business or profession. A person who fails to obtain a trade or business license may be fined not more than $300 for each day that such failure continues. The minimum tax is $250 if DC gross receipts are less than $1 million and $1,000 if DC gross receipts are greater than $1million.

Generally, persons exempt from filing an unincorporated business franchise tax return include trade, business, or professional organizations having a gross income not in excess of $12,000 for the taxable year, and trade, business, or professional organizations which by law, customs, or ethics cannot be incorporated, such as doctors and lawyers. A business is also exempt if more than 80% of gross income is derived from personal services rendered by the members of the entity and capital is not a material income-producing factor. Federal conformity is maintained pursuant to Public Law 105-100.

D.C. Code Citation: Title 47, Chapter 18.

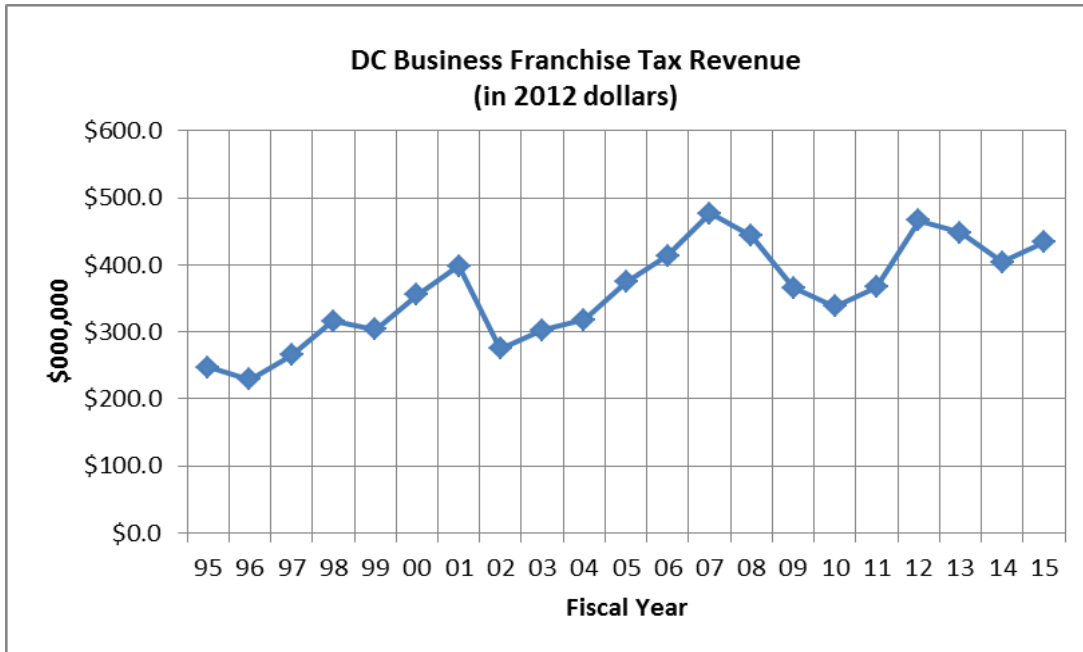

PRESENT RATES: (January 1, 2016)

The franchise tax rate was reduced, beginning January 1, 2016, to 9.2 percent through the Fiscal Year 2015 Budget Support Act of 2014. Subject to availability of funding, the tax rate would be further reduced to 9.0%, 8.75%, 8.5%, or 8.25%. Per Subchapter 17, Qualified High Technology Companies are taxed at a rate of 6.0 percent after 5 years following the date that the Qualified High Technology Company has taxable income. The tax credit for a Qualified High Technology Company cannot exceed $15 million in total exemptions.

INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The tax is imposed on every resident, defined as any individual who is domiciled in the District at any time during the tax year, or who maintains an abode in the District for 183 or more days during the year. On June 11, 1982, D.C. Law 4-118, the District of Columbia Individual, Estates, and Trusts Federal Conformity Tax Act, which adopted the federal definition of income and made other modifications to the D.C. income tax, became law. Provisions of this legislation are effective for tax years beginning after December 31, 1981.

Further conformity to federal provisions was made pursuant to D.C. Law 5-32, the District of Columbia Income and Franchise Tax Conformity Act of 1983; the Conformity Act of 1984; the Income and Franchise Tax Conformity and Revision Amendment Act of 1987.

Under current District law (DC Law 13-175) federal changes in income and deductions are adopted automatically. The latest conformity legislation is Public Law 105-100. It maintains the District's limited conformity with the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) of 1986 as amended through August 20, 1996.

MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAX

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The tax is imposed on every importer of motor vehicle fuels, including gasoline, diesel fuel, benzol, benzene, naphtha, kerosene, heating oils, all liquefied petroleum gases and all combustible gases and liquids suitable for the generation of power for the propulsion of motor vehicles. Since October 1, 1996, the revenue from the motor vehicle fuel tax has been deposited into the Highway Trust Fund, rather than the General Fund.

Effective October 1, 2013, the District levies the motor fuel vehicle tax at the wholesale level, equal to 8 percent of the average wholesale price of a gallon of regular unleaded gasoline. The average wholesale price will be calculated for adjustment twice a year. As a result, the tax rate may change each year. The average wholesale price will be determined by the District and published by February 1 and August 1 of each year. The floor on the wholesale price for the calculation of the tax is $2.94, or 23.5 cents per gallon. This is the average wholesale price in effect as of January 2016; it may increase in the future.

REAL PROPERTY TAX

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The District of Columbia property tax uses four classifications of real property: Class I--residential real property; Class II--commercial and industrial property, including hotels and motels; Class III--vacant property; and Class IV--blighted property. All real properties, other than expressly exempted properties, are subject to taxation at 100% of estimated market value.

The assessed value for each Class I owner-occupied residence (including condominiums) which qualifies as a homestead is reduced by a $71,700 homestead deduction. Homestead properties are also subject to a 10% property tax cap whereby the property tax paid on the property is limited to at most 110% of the tax paid the previous year. This exemption is indexed annually (by the CPI) on October 1st of each year. For qualified senior homeowners, as well as homeowners with a disability, the District allows an additional 50 percent reduction in the amount of real property taxes that would otherwise be payable. In addition, a property tax deferral program allows qualified low income homeowners, with total household Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) of $50,000 or less, to defer a portion of their taxes.

First-time homeowners may be eligible for abatement of real property taxes for a period of five years under the First Time Homebuyers Lower Income Home Ownership Tax Abatement program. Another Lower Income, Long-term Homeowners Tax Credit was passed by the DC Council to ease the effect of rising assessments and taxes on low-income residents who have lived in their homes seven consecutive years or more. To access this credit, homeowners must have occupied the property as their principal residence for at least the last seven (7) consecutive years, be receiving the Homestead Deduction, and must meet specific income requirements. Owners of certain certified historic buildings may receive property tax relief through a special assessment if the owners enter an agreement with the city for at least twenty years. The District also has a property tax relief "circuit-breaker" program for qualified homeowners and renters (with adjusted gross income of $40,000 or less), which provides a tax credit for those with low and moderate income, the elderly, blind and disabled.

District law limits the estimated amount of total real property taxes collected from all residential properties (Class I) by limiting the annual growth in total real property taxes from all residential properties, by way of a calculated tax rate. If, just before the start of the fiscal year, it is estimated that actual Class I revenue will exceed the targeted growth amount, the residential tax rate is to be lowered to achieve only the statutorily specified revenue amount.

Class II properties are subject to a split tax rate structure. The tax rate for the first $3 million in assessed value for Class II properties is set at $1.65 per $100 of assessed value and the tax rate for assessed valued greater than $3 million is $1.85 per $100 of assessed value. Additionally, legislation limits the growth in total Class II revenue to 10 percent annually. If, just before the start of the fiscal year, it is estimated that actual Class II revenue will exceed the targeted growth amount, the tax rate for the first $3 million of assessed value is to be lowered to achieve only the statutorily specified revenue amount for all of Class II properties.

D.C. Code Citation: Title 47, Chapters 7-10, 13, 13A.

The District's Real Property Tax Year is October 1 through September 30.

SALES AND USE TAX

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The District of Columbia has five tax categories that fall under the general sales and use tax. The retail sales tax rate of 5.75% is imposed on all tangible personal property sold or rented at retail in the District and on certain selected services. Grocery-type foods, prescription and non-prescription drugs, and professional services such as consulting, engineering, legal, and physician services, are among the items exempt from the sales tax. Construction materials and business purchases of public utility services are among those included. The Tax Revision Commission Implementation Amendment Act of 2014 (BSA Subtitle (VII) (B)) expanded the sales tax base to include some services not taxed in the District of Columbia. These include bottled water delivery services and other direct selling establishments, carpet and upholstery cleaning services, fitness and recreational sports centers, and other personal care services such as tanning, car washes, bowling centers and billiard parlors. The other rate categories apply to goods and services as indicated below.

The use tax is imposed at the same rate on property sold or purchased outside the District and then brought into the District to be used, stored or consumed. Vendors subject to the jurisdiction of the District are required to collect and pay the use tax. When the vendor is not subject to the jurisdiction of the District, or when the purchaser brings the property into the District, the purchaser is required to pay the tax.

D.C. Code Citation: Title 47, Chapters 20 and 22.

BASEBALL GROSS RECEIPTS TAX
(Transferred to Ballpark Revenue Fund)

GENERAL LIABILITY:

The Ballpark Omnibus Financing and Revenue Act of 2004 requires that a Ballpark Fee must be paid by certain businesses on June 15th of every District fiscal year until the bonds issued to build the ballpark are re-paid. To determine if a business is subject to the Ballpark Fee, that business must compute its annual District gross receipts for the most recent taxable year ending before June 15th.

The persons subject to the Ballpark Fee are persons that have income of $5,000,000 or more in annual District gross receipts and either are subject to filing franchise tax returns (whether Corporate or Unincorporated) or are employers required to make unemployment insurance contributions.

An entity granted an exemption from the DC Franchise Tax pursuant to DC Code § 47-1802.01, is not subject to the Ballpark Fee, unless it has unrelated business taxable income. A tax exempt entity with unrelated business taxable income must pay the Ballpark Fee if $5,000,000 or more of its annual DC Gross Receipts are attributable to any unrelated business taxable income for its most recent calendar or fiscal year.

SPECIAL PURPOSE NON-TAX REVENUE

GENERAL LIABILITY:

Special purpose non-tax revenues, often times referred to as “Other” or “O-Type” revenues, are funds generated from fees, fines, assessments or reimbursements that are dedicated to the District agency that collects the revenues to cover the cost of performing the function. The “dedication” of the revenue to the collecting agency is what distinguishes this revenue from the general-purpose non-tax revenues. The legislation that creates the fee, fine or assessment must stipulate its purpose-designation and must also state whether any unspent funds are to retain designation at the conclusion of the fiscal year or revert to general-purpose funds. Unspent revenue in certain funds cannot revert to general purpose funds.

The penalty for failure to file a return on time is 5% of the tax due, but not more than 25% in the aggregate. Interest at the rate of 10% compounded daily per statute is charged from the due date of the return to the date the tax is paid.

Individuals who reside in the District and who are not subject to a withholding tax on their gross income must pay estimated taxes on a quarterly basis if they expect to have a tax liability of more than $100 for the tax year. Estimated payments for a tax year are due on April 15th, June 15th, September 15th of that year, and January 15th of the next year.

The penalty for failure to file a declaration of estimated tax on time is 5% per month of the estimated tax, but not more than 25% in the aggregate. Interest is charged for failing to pay any installment when due at the rate of 10% compounded daily per statute.

Employers must withhold District individual income taxes from employees who are subject to the tax. If such withholding is less than $50 per month, the employer must remit the tax by the last day of the month following the close of the tax year; if withholding is $50 or more per month, it must be remitted by the 20th day of the following month.

The penalty for failure to file the withholding tax return or to pay the tax when due is 5% of the tax withheld during the reporting period, but not more than 25% in the aggregate. Interest is charged for late payment at the rate of 10% compounded daily per statute from the due date of the return to the date the tax is paid.

The return, accompanied by the tax payment, is due on or before July 31 of each year on the tangible personal property remaining cost (current value) as of July 1. A penalty of 5% per month, but not more than 25% total, is charged for failure to timely file a return. Interest at the rate of 10% compounded daily per statute is charged until the tax is paid.

Real Property Tax

The assessment year begins on October 1 and ends on September 31. Property owners receive notices of proposed assessments on or before the following March 1 and have until April 1 to appeal such assessments before the Assessment Division. If the assessor and the property owner, or party of interest, do not resolve a disputed value, the property owner may proceed to the Real Property Tax Appeals Commission (RPTAC). RPTAC will not accept an appeal unless there has first been an appeal to the Office of Tax and Revenue's Assessment Division.

The tax may be paid in full or in two equal installments. One-half the tax is payable on or before March 31 and the other half tax is due on or before September 15. There shall be added to the real property tax or installment a penalty of 10% of the unpaid amount due to late payment of real estate tax bills, plus interest on the unpaid amount at the rate of 1.5% per month (18% a year) or portion of a month until the real property tax or installment is paid.

If these two elements are met then the tax rate is 2.9% of the consideration. The transfer tax is due at the time of recordation.
